CHARLEY STRONG KNOCKED OUT IN THE FOURTH ROUND.

The Australian Shows Plenty of Science, Is in Fine Condition, and Simply Outclasses the Newark Puglist—Carter and Murphy Win the Preliminaries at the Arena A. C.

Dan Creedon, the Australian middleweight pugilist, succeeded in putting Charley Strong, the heavy hitting negro fighter, to sleep last night in the fourth round at the new Arena A. C., Seventh avenue and Forty-second street, It was a case of science and a thorough knowledge of ring tactics against brute strength and slugging, and the former came out on top of the hear. Creedon had trained to the hour, and his performance was a big surprise, as the general opinion among sporting men had been that he was not the Creedon of old, while Strong was a comer and a dangerous man to fool with But from the moment the men put up their hands, It was apparent that Creedon was the master. In point of cleverness, footwork, defence, and hitting, the Australian showed that he was casily Strong's superior. The latter's efforts seemed slow in comparison to the quick movements of the Antipodean, and after the first round it was only question of time before the colored man would be beaten. Creedon fought with great coolness, while his antagonist was rattled in the very first round. Dan used his left so effectively that he made a mess of Strong's face in short order,

The Newark man appeared to forget all about defence, and his efforts to shield himself were clumsy and painful for the practised eye, He the law when Creedon was backing away, for Dan was so shifty on his feet that it was almost Impossible for Strong to reach him. But he took his medicine like a man, and kept on fighting until a body punch made him sink and a heavy right on the jaw knocked him out. Creedon has no marks, while Strong was badly cut up. It was the first show held by this centrally located club, and the place was crowded.

The club house, which has been comfortably fitted up, was originally a horse market. Around three sides of a finely appointed ring are about 1,000 numbered opera chairs, while the fourth side of the building is devoted to bleaching boards which accommodate 500 persons. There are about 100 box seats in close proximity to the ring, so that, all things considered, there was excellent reasons for the rather high rates of admission. The prices were $2, $3, $4, and $5, and there was a big demand for tickets.

As Creedon and Strong were matched to box twenty rounds at 165 pounds, the enthusiasts felt confident of seeing plenty of hard hitting. Creedon has been growing heavy of late. and when got on the scales about 6 o'clock to weigh in, he had a rather close shave. He just managed to get inside the limit. In several encounters during the past winter Creedon did not show his former speed, and many of the fraternity had been led to believe that the Australian, who was so easily disposed of several years ago by Fitzsimmons, had "gone back." As a consequence Strong had many supporters, who were looking for choice bets. Even money wagers prevailed just before the men entered the ring and there was plenty of money in sight. Strong's plucky battle against Bob Armstrong several months ago, when the latter had an advantage of six inches in height and twenty-five pounds weight, was used as the principal argumen weight, was used as the principal argument in his favor, while the fact that he had easily beaten Henry Baker, who came near putting Creedon to sleep in the second round at Maspeth, was not overlooked. Creedon's friends, in a word, hoped that their man would win on superior science, but they realized that Strong could hit like the kick of a mule and was capable of enduring almost unlimited punishment.

There was an unnecessary delay before the first preliminary was put on. It was after 9 o'clock when the fun began. The referee was Walter De Baun, the veteran light weight; Joo Vendig handled the gong, and Fred Grody did the announcing. Charley Peaker, colored, of Newark, and Tom Carter, white, of California, were the principals in the first bout, the conditions of which were ten rounds at 138 pounds. Before they put up their hand, Police Capitain Sheehan and Acting Inspector Harley interciewed the referee, It was announced that freehand hitting in clinches and hitting on the breakaway would be permitted.

Carter was a "ringer" for Joe Choyneki, and had a longer resch than Peaker. The latter landed a couple of staggering right-hand swings on the jaw in the early part of the first round, but Carter finally scored a clean knock-down with a beavy left on the seek. It was a flerce argument, and in the second round they did such rapid work that the crowd cheered wildly. Carter used his left cleanly and set the pace. Peaker doveloped a heavy right-hand swings on the jaw in the carly part of the first round, but Carter finally scored a clean knock-down with a beavy left on the seek. It was a flerce argument, and in the second round they did such rapid work that the crowd cheered wildly. Carter used his left cleanly and set the pace. Peaker doveloped a heavy right-hand swings for the jaw in the carly part of the first round, but Carter finally scored a clean knock-down with a beavy left on the seek. It was a flerce argument, and in the second round they did such rapid work which pet a stop to the Californian's offensive in his favor, while the fact that he had easily

It up and Peaker quickly recovered.

In the sixth Carter soon sent in left and right to the jaw, and Peaker reeled. Carter got after him in great style, and with an avalanche of punches he sent the negre to the floor in a heap. Peaker got up inside the limit and Carter rushed in again. He drove in half a dozen corking smashes to the head and neck and finally dropped Peaker again with a hard-left hook. The Newark man was about to starger to his feet when Capt. Sheehan put his hand through the ropes and stopped the go. Peaker's case was hopeless, anyway, and Carter was declared the winner.

Jack Hannigan of Pittsburgh and Joe Murphy of Providence put up the second battle, ten rounds at 122 pounds. The first round was altane, but the second was just the reverse. Murphy cut loose, but he found that Hannigan was a pretty fast infighter, too. Murphy's right eye was cut loose, but he found with a number of hot swings which put Murphy on the defensive. While the men were clinched. Hannigan wound up the round with a number of hot swings which put Murphy got to close quarters in the third and put in a terrifice out by the police. Murphy got to close quarters in the third and put in a terrifice body punch. Hannigan resorted to very round clinching, but Murphy was equal to the emergency. The Providence man also showed great cleverness and when Hannigan tried rushing it amounted to nothing. Murphy did some rushing in the fourth and Hannigan printed around the ring, only to wind up with a hard clinch. Murphy, however, straightened him up with three uppercuts, and the Pittsburgh man began foul tactics which drew a warning from the referce.

Hannigan made the right cyc bleed again in the fifth by rushing in with a couple of swings. Hannigan then cut loose, and the men mixed it until the bol rang. Hannigan forced the fighting in the sixth until Murphy saw an opening and knocked him fiat with a right cross counter on the fehin. Hefore Hannigan got up the bell ethate.

In the seventh both landed some hard swings, Murphy's mouth and left eye puffing up. Neither did much damage in the clipht, but in the humry even. Murphy had the last round almost dli his own way, and when he got the verdict there was great reloiding.

Creedon and Strong entered the ring at 10:35 o'clock. The Australian's seconds were lienny Murphy, Tom Tracey, and Jim Ryan. He looked hig and strong, and said he was fit to might for his life. Strong too, was well trained, from his appearance, and hast phene you have been been and the trained and crossed in the far agreeding that here should be no hitting in a clinch or on the breakaway.

CAUSE OF THE BOXERS' DEATH. One Was the Result of a Fall and the Other May He Due to a Blow.

PHILADELPHIA, March 22.-Deputy Coroner Jugan to-day held inquests in the cases of Christian Kleinecker, who died on Saturday after engaging in a boxing bout with Frank Connolly and of Edward Gibbons, who died the same day from the effects of a heart blow delivered by Samuel S. Perry on Friday night during a bout at the Tenth Ward Democratic Club. It was testified that Kielnecker stumbled and in falling struck his head on a spike which projected fro the floor. The autopsy showed that the fall broke an abscess which had formed on the man's brain and that death resulted therefrom. Conthat death was caused "by hemorrhage of the neck, nose, pharynx, and brain, due to traumatic injuries." The jury held Perry responsible, and the deputy coroner committed him to the county prison without bell to await the

Luke Hurke Turns the Tables on Charley Kelly. Buryano, March 22.-Luko Burke of Salem, Mass. put Charley Kelly of New York to sleep after three rounds of terrifle fighting at the Olympic A. Kelly opened hostilities with a light left on the wind and Burke came back with a hard right in the same place. They were clinched as the bell rang. In the second round there were several hot exchanges, with Burke having a shade the better of it. The third and thad round was marked by sensational ighting, in which the New Yorker showed great gameness. Kelly led short with the left for the Jaw and Burke jabbed a hard right over the heart, sending Kelly to the floor. Kelly was on his feet quickly and Burke rushed him to the ropes, playing a tattoo on his stomach. Kelly pulled himself together with a desperate effort and forced Luke book, sending in some hot ones on the wind that weakened the Salem boy viably. Kelly went down a second time from a stiff left on the wind. He arose only to be floored again with a left on the wind and a right on the just has time to stay.

The first preliminary boot brought Joseph Maloney and Charles Calcott, both of 81. Cathartnes, Ont., together. They were to box twenty-five rounds at each weights. Calcott was knocked out in the second round. The second bout was between Charles McCarthy of Ruffalo and Fred Oliver of Toronto, 115-bounders, who boxed six rounds. The Sponge.

Layton, with twenty pounds the better of weight, played Van Heest all the way and did not start to finish him until the seventh round. In the eight Van Heest swung with his right and alipped down. He arose wild, and Layton smaked in a straight left and turned his man over with a right wing on the jaw, putting Van Heest out for half a minute. The fight was for $500 a side, Van Heest agreeing to stay fitteen rounds for the money.

NEWS OF THE WHEELMEN

MOVE TO TRANSFER THE MIL BURN RACE TO THIS CITY.

Riverside Drive-The Matter Now in the Hands of the Park Commissioners Di fled with an L. A. W. Racing Bule-Notes

The Associated Cycling Clubs of New York desire to transfer the annual Irvington-Milburn road race from the New Jersey course to that portion of the Riverside Drive from Seventy second street to Claremont in this city. A com mittee representing the Associated Cycling Clubs waited upon President McMillan of the Board of Park Commissioners yesterday to se cure the board's consent to race there. A petition signed by Police Magistrate Charles E Simms, Jr., who is President of the Associated Cycling Clubs, and Edward Gerbereux, Chair man of the Race Committee of the organization. was presented, explaining in detail the wishes o the association. Upon the recommendation of President McMillan the petition was filed and will be considered at the meeting of the Commissioners on next Monday.

The idea of holding the race on the Riverside Drive was conceived by some of the racing men of this city. The Associated Cycling Clubs, in their petition, ask that the race be held on either May 20 or June 5. The committee anticipates that it will take about two hours to decide the contest, and desires the use of the drive for that time. The demand of the organization has excited considerable surprise among wheelmen. It has been well known that the Race Committee of the clubs has been on the look out for a new course for the event that which Milburn was noted, and which thoroughly tested the endurance of every racing man. The tested the endurance of every racing man. The idea of changing the date for the race is another radical move. The association argued that complaint has been made against holding road races on Decoration Day, and it has accordingly considered the idea of changing the date to the Saturday before or following May 30. It is pointed out that as Brooklyn's Park Commissioner has allowed the use of the Coney Island Boulevard for several years for a big open road race, the same privilege can consistently be granted in this city for several hours.

Members of some of the leading bicycle clubs in the metropolitan district met rescently and expressed dissatisfaction over the L. A.W. racing rule compelling meet promoters to accept the member of the State Racing Board as referee at tournaments. The opposition to such a rule is quite strong in this section, and the question will be laid before Chairman Mott for adjustment. A well-known rider said to The Sun reporter yesterday that the matter of selecting the referee for big meetings will, he thinks, be left to the discretion of the committees of clubs holding tournaments, with the recomendation that the member of the State Racing Board should receive the preference of the office on account of his familiarity with racing matters. He added further that Chairman Mott has expressed himself as opposed to official handicappers of the league acting in the capacity of referee at track races. The clubs feel that they should have the option of choosing their own officials without any L. A. W. interference, and the latter arges the clubs to select lacing Board men, merely to insure the proper conduct and enforcement of the rules. Members of some of the leading bicycle clubs NOTES.

The weather was very warm, the thermometer registering 70 degrees by noon, and one or two passing showers made their presence felt for a few minutes. After the usual limbering up that follows the jog to the grounds, Capt. Joyce called the players in and arranged the teams as follows:

retred. Gleason proved to be a good water and got his base on balls. Then Joyce made the first hit of the season, a hot liner that had an uninterrupted course to centre field. Meekin, however, retired the side by a fine stop of Davia's grounder. The "colta" proceeded to make things lively. Tiernan touched up Seymour for a two-bageer, and Warner scored the first run before the luning closed.

The second and third lunings were full of ginger, but the pitchers were doing their best, and no rans were tallied, although Sowders hit Seymour for a couple of bases. Hean then replaced Sullivan, and Davis touched him up for a single and then stole second. Beckley could not reach first, but Davis got to third. Stafford was equal to the occasion, and Davis scored on his safe hit, making the score even. Seymour gave way to Doheny in the second half of the fourth inning, and Warner and Wilson exchanged places at the beginning of the fifth ming. Shea relieved Zearross in the sixth. In this inning Joyce received a bump on the side of the head from a bouncing ball.

In the first part of the seventh luning the "regulars" scored three runs. Tiernan got a two-bagger off Sowders, bringing Van Haltren home. Joyce cracked out another two-base hit, sending Gleason in. Then Davis helped Joyce to reach the plate by a hot grounder. Standish tried his skill in the box in the last two innings, and not a litt was made off the plucky little player. The game ended in favor of the "regulars" by a score of 4 to 1, "Dad" Clarke made an efficient unspire.

An Open Letter to the Public.

We beg to contradict the statement made in the advertisement of a Department Store in the Sunday papers, that 1,500 Monarch bicycles sold by us to them are being offered for $34.50 under our guarantee.

That is an untruth.

We did not sell any bicycles to said firm. We did not guarantee any Monarch bicycles to them. They have not got 1,500 Mon

These are the only prices our catalogued Monarch and Defiance bicycles are sold at. What they advertise for sale is a part or all of 150 shop-worn 1896 Deflance wheels, made by us early in that year, and was a job lot, sold to the Eureka Trading Company, 358 Broadway, without name plates and tires, for export, and delivered to their forwards ing agents, Davies, Turner & Co., 27 State street, to be shipped to London. The Model numbers of the wheels delivered were 31 and 32, of the Defiance line, and were never catalogued or sold as Monarch bicycles. The use of our Monarch trade mark, the Lion's Head, and our script name was unauthorized. Upon investigation we found that the job lot of Deflance wheels were not exported, but resold to said firm. The guarantee as published by said firm was not authorized or given by us. YOur guarantee to the Eureka

COMMITTEE ON WAYS AND MEANS

Get catalogue.

When a person who knows nothing of bicycles desires to purchase a wheel the safest course to pursue is to talk it over with friends who already have wheels. Any rider will usually swear by his wheel; but get under the surface—find out whether he really means it or seeks to justify his judgment. Stearns riders are Stearns enthusiasts
